Gamp Spratzern is situated in the area inclosed by mariazellerstrasse, Stiftergasse and the projected Autobahn. The camp area along Mariazellerstrasse is 554 staps long, approximately 450 yards. (See Sketch No 2.) Two gates at least 20 feet wide, open from Mariazellerstrasse into the compound. No sentries were posted at the gates, but patrolling sentries were seen. The camp appears to be in good condition; recent repair and paint work seems to have been done. Fifty enlisted men were watching a bicycle race on Mariazellerstrasse; they wore black-red shoulder boards. A railroad siding from the Leobersdorfer Bahn apparently destined to connect the camp with the railroad, leads to a factory next to the northwest corner of Mariazellerstrasse and Stiftergasse.

4. The tank training grounds are situated to the south and west of the camp area. Treadmarks of caterpillar vehicles, sketch below:

about 20"

Three watchtowers have been installed on the training grounds; they were unoccupied.** There are two fir groves on the slopes to the west of the training area. The southern grove has thick underbrush which makes passage difficult; the northern grove has underbrush along the edges only.** A number of old trenches and beaten tracks were observed in the latter grove. A tank-shaped target was installed to the west of the area between the two groves.

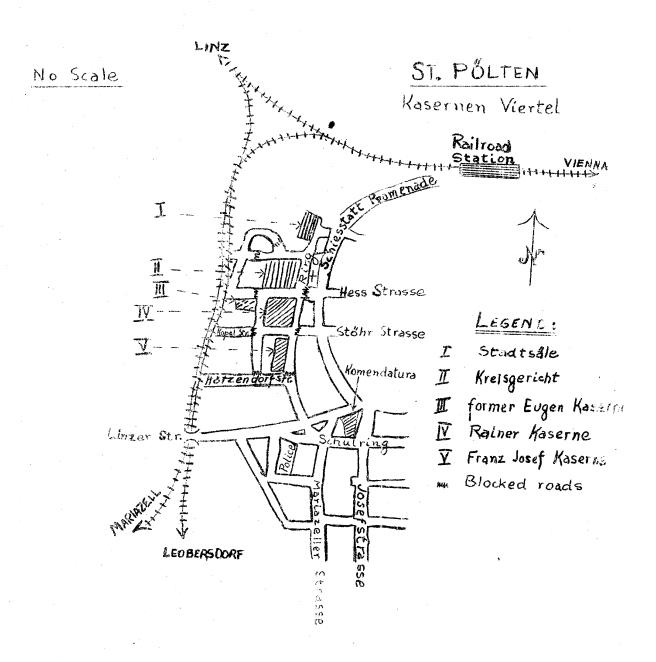

25X1A	* Comment. The capacity of the camp is believed to be 1,000 men; the present strength of troops is not known, but believed to be much smaller.
25X1A	2* Comment. It is believed that the watchtowers are only manned during tank maneuvers.
25X1A	 Comment. Torn branches seem to indicate that the groves are patrolled.
